

Lagondaforum: Lovely 12/24 LC

Lovely 12/24 LC

Written by Patrick1 at Sep 22, 2008 4:28 pm

A 12/24 LC on:

<http://www.paulridley.co.uk/CarTransportGallery.htm#L>

Re: Lovely 12/24 LC

Written by Colin M34 at Sep 24, 2008 8:42 pm

Hi Folks,

This 12/24 looks absolutely correct, down to the bullseye side lights and the properly equipped dashboard and CAV lighting panel. It looks like a 1924 model because it has 3 stud wheels, and front wheel brakes. (These were optional for 1923 but I think were probably standard for 1924.)

For 1924 the LC model had the integral steel framed body whereas by 1926 it had been replaced by a coachbuilt one. Interesting details are the steel dashboard and parcel shelf below.

Frustratingly the chassis number is just not quite readable. This would confirm if it is a car I know or one that has been unearthed and so beautifully restored.

Anyone know any more about this car?

Colin M34
