Peter good evening,

Is there any possibility of adding a search facility to help tracking down useful information on this rapidly growing data base of information please ?

Simon

Simon,

this is a good point: it would be very helpful if everybody coming up with a new topic would not add it to a long discussion list (e.g. "Rapide restoration" but start a new topic each time. Otherwise everything about Rapide restoration is in that long queue. If there are many little topics it will be possible in the future to rearrange them. For example there could be more forums (fora) than just Engine, Other, For Sale, Wanted.

there is also a seach function ("Search" the reading glass symbol)

Peter,

I just wanted to say how much I appreciate this site and all your efforts on our behalf. A big THANK YOU from me.

Best regards,

Tim

Thank you! It is your contributions which are most important.

I will introduce more categories soon to make it easier to find information

Peter hi

Let me also my vote of thanks for all your hard work, greatly appreciated.

Since I will now start posting for the benefit of others, will let you know how well your categories work for me, if I may!
