

Lagondaforum: 1937 Lagonda LG45 Saloon De Ville

Re: 1937 Lagonda LG45 Saloon De Ville

Written by SRD at Jun 18, 2012 10:29 am

The car sold for 27,500 including buyers premium and VAT about right for one of these cars needing a full restoration.

1937 Lagonda LG45 Saloon De Ville

Written by SRD at May 22, 2012 9:13 pm

This wonderful car (one of the cars on my list I would love to own, I like the saloons very much) is also coming up on 16th June at H & H, with no reserve:

<http://www.classic-auctions.com/Auctions/16-06-2012-RockinghamCastle-1318/c1937LagondaLG45SaloonDeVille-34875.aspx>

Reg Number: T.B.A.

Chassis Number: 12212/G10

Engine Number: 12212

Cc: 4500

Body Colour: Black

Trim Colour: Brown

Re: 1937 Lagonda LG45 Saloon De Ville

Written by h14 at May 23, 2012 10:28 am

Strange that the open boot suggests that amongst the "spares" that come with the car is a V12 sump!

Laurence

Re: 1937 Lagonda LG45 Saloon De Ville

Written by SRD at May 23, 2012 11:28 am

I like the car, very elegant indeed, although lots of work of course to sort out, but you motor in real style...

Re: 1937 Lagonda LG45 Saloon De Ville

Written by Julian at May 24, 2012 7:19 am

Hi,

Am I missing something here? What open boot and what V12 sump?

Would be nice to see this restored but at a good 250k to restore properly it would be a serious no no on a car worth about 130k perfectly restored at the moment, unless you just want it and are lucky enough that you don't need to worry about cost. Shame!

Julian

Re: 1937 Lagonda LG45 Saloon De Ville

Lagondaforum: 1937 Lagonda LG45 Saloon De Ville

Written by DavidLG45 at May 24, 2012 9:49 am

The pdf has the same pix. You do need to click on "Further Photos" but if Julian has seen the open boot pic he already has.

David

Re: 1937 Lagonda LG45 Saloon De Ville

Written by SRD at May 24, 2012 8:21 am

You need to open the pdf file, and then you see will a lot more pictures and detail.

Re: 1937 Lagonda LG45 Saloon De Ville

Written by Julian at May 24, 2012 12:03 pm

Ah! seen it now, thanks! Wonder where the rest of the V12 is?

Julian

Re: 1937 Lagonda LG45 Saloon De Ville

Written by Superaquarama at Jun 18, 2012 2:50 pm

At the previous H&H sale there was an LG45 dhc which seemed quite nice but didn't sell, the £70k top bid not being enough to buy it. This was the black & blue car - to me the blue tone seemed to miss the mark.

Bonham's have another coming up, too:

<http://www.bonhams.com/auctions/20143/lot/242/>

And the ex TASO Mathiesen V12:

<http://www.bonhams.com/auctions/20143/lot/226/>
