

Lagondaforum: Lagonda Continental Rally 2013

Lagonda Continental Rally 2013

Written by Peter S30 at Sep 15, 2013 6:37 pm

Some impressions from the last rally, end of August in the alps. Our Hotel was in Flueli-Ranft. The rally Included the Sustenpass at 2224m altitude and on our way back home we took a detour over a very narrow pass to Sörenberg (only single lane but little traffic from both sides). Forgot to take a photo from there, to busy with the road. Much fun again..

Attachments:

Lagonda 1 Continental 2013.JPG (filesize: 62.83 KB)

Lagonda 2 Continental 2013.JPG (filesize: 83.39 KB)

Lagonda 3 Continental 2013.JPG (filesize: 85.97 KB)

Lagonda 4 Continental 2013.JPG (filesize: 90.43 KB)

Re: Lagonda Continental Rally 2013

Written by bruffsup at Sep 16, 2013 12:17 am

Inspiring , however the saloon on the observation deck looks precarious, what's the story ?

Re: Lagonda Continental Rally 2013

Written by SRD at Sep 16, 2013 12:24 pm

Peter - wonderful pictures, thank you for sharing them with us, and you seemed to have had excellent weather as well !

Are you preferring your 3.0 dhc to your V12 for these rally's ?

Re: Lagonda Continental Rally 2013

Written by Peter S30 at Sep 16, 2013 3:16 pm

Barry: I also liked this V12 on the observation desk, but the desk is built in swiss quality for driving onto with a car for loading and unloading (not in this corner) and the owner of the car can not walk to far

Simon: weather was fine at least most of the time. Definately I prefer the DB 3ltr in the alps. Only embarassing if you get stuck behind a modern car in "slow motion"
