

Lagondaforum: Radiator assembly on ebay 1930s

Radiator assembly on ebay 1930s

Written by RobO at Aug 03, 2015 9:42 pm

<http://www.ebay.co.uk/itm/Mid-1930s-Lagonda-Radiator-/281764147502?hash=item419a73b12e>

May be a 16/80?

RobO

Re: Radiator assembly on ebay 1930s

Written by Rich5ltr at Aug 03, 2015 11:29 pm

Hi Rob, this was also mentioned in this thread <http://www.lagondaforum.com/showtopic.php?id=946>

Seems the seller has re-listed it. I don't know what series of car it's for. Rgds Rich

Re: Radiator assembly on ebay 1930s

Written by Colin M34 at Aug 03, 2015 11:50 pm

As per my post <http://www.lagondaforum.com/showtopic.php?id=946> it's for a late 3 litre.

The high bid last time was £132.99 - I would estimate the reserve would be about £250. The shell seems undented, all the slats are there and the correct filler cap and badge are included.

Challenge is to find a 3 Litre owner who needs a spare radiator.

Colin

Re: Radiator assembly on ebay 1930s

Written by RobO at Aug 04, 2015 7:19 pm

Thanks Colin, sorry didnt see your post before.

All the best

Rob.

Re: Radiator assembly on ebay 1930s

Written by Colin M34 at Aug 09, 2015 10:00 pm

High Bid was £216.40 with reserve not met,

Re: Radiator assembly on ebay 1930s

Written by Rich5ltr at Aug 10, 2015 9:13 am

Quote by Colin M34:

High Bid was £216.40 with reserve not met,

That seems a fair price to me. I think I know this chap actually, got a couple of Lagondas and I bought a couple Avon tyres from him a few years back for my Aston.
